

Updating your will

When you are ready, you may consider updating your will. SA Police Legacy can assist with the cost of this for widows and widowers after the passing of their serving or retired South Australia Police officer spouse or partner.

You can use your own legal provider if you wish and either ask them to send an invoice directly to us or you can provide us with a receipt for reimbursement.

We can also provide a referral to our preferred providers who will invoice us directly.

We can cover the cost of a simple will update or a package of a will, advance care directive and power of attorney up to a nominated amount.

For further information or to express your interest, contact our liaison officer for police legatees.
